ARGUMENT(S)
The Examining Attorney refused registration of applicant's mark CROSSBLADES" in connection with goods in classes 025 and 028 only, namely, "Clothes, Shoes, Headgear, namely, Ski boots, Snowboard boots, Cross country shoes, Ski helmets, Snowboard helmets, Snow sport protectors (for back, knees, hands), Ski gloves, Snowboard gloves, Ski trousers, Ski jackets, Snowboard pants, Snowboard jackets, ski caps, Snowboard caps," and " sports articles, in particular winter sports articles, namely, downhill skis, Touring skis, Cross-country skis, Short skis, Snowshoes, Skiboards, Snowboards, ski bindings of all kinds, Ski sticks, Cross-country ski stocks, Bags for snow sports of all kinds and water sports of all kinds, no flippers, no swim fins." The cited registration is registration no. 3469035 for the mark CROSSBLADE in connection with "swim fins," in class 028. The Examining Attorney argues that the marks are similar, and that the goods are related because " skis, swim fins and snow apparel are often found in the same specialty and other sports stores." As a preliminary matter, applicant amends its identification as follows: IC 025: [Deleted] IC 028: "sports articles, namely, downhill skis, touring skis, cross-country skis, short skis, snowshoes, skiboards, snowboards, ski bindings of all kinds, ski sticks, cross-country ski stocks_ IC 041: Sports activities and cultural activities, namely, organizing and conducting competitions and races in the range of winter and snow sports; Presentations of photograph and audio-visual presentations and film screenings about winter and snow sports GOODS ARE NOT RELATED The Trademark Trial and Appeal Board has held that the fact that a mark may exist in the same general field is insufficient to find a likelihood of confusion. In re Shipp, 4 USPQ2d 1174 (TTAB 1987) (PURITAN for laundry and dry cleaning services and PURITAN for dry cleaning machine filters and parts therefor "while related in the sense that they are all in the laundry and dry cleaning industry, are not so related that they would come to the attention of the same kinds of purchasers and we believe that confusion as to source or sponsorship, while possible, is not likely"); Reynolds & Reynolds Co. v. I.E. Systems Inc., 5 USPQ2d 1749, 1751 (TTAB 1987)("there must be some similarity between the goods and services at issue herein beyond the fact that each involves the use of computer"). Likewise, the fact that the goods involve some sort of sport is insufficient to find that the goods flow in the same channel of trade, even if they are sold in sports stores. Sports stores sell a wide variety of sporting equipment and accessories for a wide variety of sports. It does not follow that all sporting equipment are related, just as it does not follow that all foods sold in a grocery store are related. As amended, class 028 identifies only ski and snow articles, while the registrant identifies only "swim fins." Applicant attaches several webpages showing the sales of swim fins, but not ski articles, and vice versa, to show that the channels of trade are distinct. See attached. Applicant further attaches USPTO Tess search results and sample third-party registrations showing that out of 1761 third party, use-based, registrations that sell skis, snowshoes and snowboards, only 64 identify ski fins. See attached. This small overlap is De Minimis and tends to show that the goods do not flow in the same channels of trade. See In re Coors Brewing Co., 343 F.3d 1340, 1345, 68 USPQ2d 1059, 1063-1064 (Fed. Cir. 2003) (quoting Jacobs v. Int'l Multifoods Corp., 668 F.2d 1234, 1236, 212 USPQ 641, 642 (C.C.P.A. 1982)) (the very small number of such dual use registrations does nothing to counter Coors' showing that only a very small percentage of restaurants actually brew their own beer or sell house brands of beer; instead, the small number of such registrations suggests that it is quite uncommon for restaurants and beer to share the same trademark).

Thus, the goods are not related.

MARKS CONVEY DIFFERENT COMMERCIAL IMPRESSIONS

While the goods both contain the words CROSS and BLADE, to prospective consumers, these convey different commercial impressions. Prospective consumers of swim fins would assume the word "blade" to refer to bladed swim fins. See attached. On the other hand, prospective consumers of skis would likely assume that "blade" refers to ski-blades. See attached. Thus, the commercial impressions are different.

Because the marks convey different commercial impressions and because the evidence shows that the goods of applicant and registrant flow in distinctively different channels of trade, with little overlap, confusion is not likely.

Applicant concurrently files a Notice of Appeal to preserve the right of appeal.

Request for Reconsideration after Final Action

To the Commissioner for Trademarks:

Application serial no. 79173135 CROSSBLADES(Standard Characters, see <https://tmng-al.uspto.gov/resting2/api/img/79173135/large>) has been amended as follows:

ARGUMENT(S)

In response to the substantive refusal(s), please note the following:

The Examining Attorney refused registration of applicant's mark "CROSSBLADES" in connection with goods in classes 025 and 028 only, namely, "Clothes, Shoes, Headgear, namely, Ski boots, Snowboard boots, Cross country shoes, Ski helmets, Snowboard helmets, Snow sport protectors (for back, knees, hands), Ski gloves, Snowboard gloves, Ski trousers, Ski jackets, Snowboard pants, Snowboard jackets, ski caps, Snowboard caps," and "sports articles, in particular winter sports articles, namely, downhill skis, Touring skis, Cross-country skis, Short skis, Snowshoes, Skiboards, Snowboards, ski bindings of all kinds, Ski sticks, Cross-country ski stocks, Bags for snow sports of all kinds and water sports of all kinds, no flippers, no swim fins."

The cited registration is registration no. 3469035 for the mark CROSSBLADE in connection with "swim fins," in class 028.

The Examining Attorney argues that the marks are similar, and that the goods are related because "skis, swim fins and snow apparel are often found in the same specialty and other sports stores."

As a preliminary matter, applicant amends its identification as follows:

IC 025: [Deleted]
IC 028: "sports articles, namely, downhill skis, touring skis, cross-country skis, short skis, snowshoes, skiboards, snowboards, ski bindings of all kinds, ski sticks, cross-country ski stocks_
IC 041: Sports activities and cultural activities, namely, organizing and conducting competitions and races in the range of winter and snow sports; Presentations of photograph and audio-visual presentations and film screenings about winter and snow sports

GOODS ARE NOT RELATED

The Trademark Trial and Appeal Board has held that the fact that a mark may exist in the same general field is insufficient to find a likelihood of confusion. In re Shipp, 4 USPQ2d 1174 (TTAB 1987) (PURITAN for laundry and dry cleaning services and PURITAN for dry cleaning machine filters and parts therefor "while related in the sense that they are all in the laundry and dry cleaning industry, are not so related that they would come to the attention of the same kinds of purchasers and we believe that confusion as to source or sponsorship, while possible, is not likely"); Reynolds & Reynolds Co. v. I.E. Systems Inc., 5 USPQ2d 1749, 1751 (TTAB 1987)("there must be some similarity between the goods and services at issue herein beyond the fact that each involves the use of computer").

Likewise, the fact that the goods involve some sort of sport is insufficient to find that the goods flow in the same channel of trade, even if they are sold in sports stores. Sports stores sell a wide variety of sporting equipment and accessories for a wide variety of sports. It does not follow that all sporting equipment are related, just as it does not follow that all foods sold in a grocery store are related.

As amended, class 028 identifies only ski and snow articles, while the registrant identifies only "swim fins."

Applicant attaches several webpages showing the sales of swim fins, but not ski articles, and vice versa, to show that the channels of trade are distinct. See attached. Applicant further attaches USPTO Tess search results and sample third-party registrations showing that out of 1761 third party, use-based, registrations that sell skis, snowshoes and snowboards, only 64 identify ski fins. See attached. This small overlap is De Minimis and tends to show that the goods do not flow in the same channels of trade. See In re Coors Brewing Co., 343 F.3d 1340, 1345, 68 USPQ2d 1059, 1063-1064 (Fed. Cir. 2003) (quoting Jacobs v. Int'l Multifoods Corp., 668 F.2d 1234, 1236, 212 USPQ 641, 642 (C.C.P.A. 1982)) (the very small number of such dual use registrations does nothing to counter Coors' showing that only a very small percentage of restaurants actually brew their own beer or sell house brands of beer; instead, the small number of such registrations suggests that it is quite uncommon for restaurants and beer to share the same trademark).

Thus, the goods are not related.

MARKS CONVEY DIFFERENT COMMERCIAL IMPRESSIONS

While the goods both contain the words CROSS and BLADE, to prospective consumers, these convey different commercial impressions. Prospective consumers of swim fins would assume the word “blade” to refer to bladed swim fins. See attached. On the other hand, prospective consumers of skis would likely assume that “blade” refers to ski-blades. See attached. Thus, the commercial impressions are different. Because the marks convey different commercial impressions and because the evidence shows that the goods of applicant and registrant flow in distinctively different channels of trade, with little overlap, confusion is not likely. Applicant concurrently files a Notice of Appeal to preserve the right of appeal.

Customer Review

"As a dive master, I dive at Catalina with dive classes quite a bit. When exiting the water, the surge of the surf can carry away fins that are tossed up to the steps and since both hands are needed to facilitate climbing out of the water across slippery rocks, the "flip fin" is the perfect solution for the Casino Point low tide problem. Always a winner!"

Kevin K.

Flipfins® are patented, award winning, high-performance scuba fins, swim fins, rescue fins, Special Forces fins, diving fins as well as fins for float tube and pontoon fly fishing. The world's only fins that provide total mobility in and out of the water. While scuba diving using Amphibian® scuba fins, you can walk fully geared into the water, move freely on the dive boat, climb ladders and do other movements as easy as wearing ordinary shoes.

When fly fishing from either a float tube or an inflatable pontoon boat, Navigator® Fishing Fins are the most important and indispensable accessory. These ultra-lightweight and neutrally buoyant float tube fins will provide the maximum distance with minimum effort and best maneuverability. The best float tube fin design ever done!

Stealth® and Stealth Max® rescue and military fins are currently being used by Navy Seals, Special Forces and rescue divers in US and around the world. These fins are essential during airborne water entries as in helicopter water rescue and Special Operations water jumps.

Feature Products

MEDIUM size Amphibian® Flipfins are HERE! - Specially designed to accommodate Women (7-10 USA) Completely comfortable, less leg stress without compromising the power of thrust.

Feature Products

Stealth Max - Specially designed for Military diving, Water Rescue and SAR missions. Indispensable during helicopter water rescue and Special Operations water jumps. Stiffer blade than the Amphibian® model.
